Numb. 288.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From June 6. to June 13. 1734.

LONDON.

Monday, March 18. The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Common Council of London waited on his Majeſty with the following Addreſs; drawn up by the following Committee: J. Barber Eſq; Chairman, Sir John Barnard, Geo. Champion, Eſq; and Robert Godſhall, Eſq; Aldermen; Dan. Lambert, Eſq; Sheriff; Mr. John Boſworth, Mr. Henry Siſſon, Mr. William Selwin, Mr. William Timms, Mr. John Thomas, Mr. Robert Willymot, and Mr. Thomas Sandford, Common Council Men:

To the King's Moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council aſſembled, moſt humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the happy Concluſion of the Marriage of the Princeſs Royal with his moſt Serene Highneſs the Prince of Orange.

Our Minds preſage the greateſt Glory, the brighteſt Triumphs, and the moſt diſtinguiſhed Proſperity to theſe Nations, both in the preſent and future Ages, from another Alliance with that truly illuſtrious Houſe, the Houſe of Naſſau; from whence ſo many Heroes have ſprung, the Scourges of Tyrants and the Aſſertors of Liberty.

Among theſe, we muſt for ever remember that Glorious Prince King William III. who delivered theſe Kingdoms from the imminent Dangers of Popery and Arbitrary Power, and during the Courſe of his important Reign eſtabliſhed the Conſtitution, and ſecured our Liberties, in ſuch a manner, that he ſeems to have left nothing more to be done, than what we hope was reſerved to complete the Glories of your Majeſty's Reign: A Reign in which we juſtly promiſe our ſelves that nothing will be omitted, which may appear neceſſary for the confirming our ancient Conſtitution; for eaſing the People from thoſe heavy Burthens which the Defence of their Liberties indueed them to impoſe on themſelves; for encouraging the Trade, and advancing the Maritime Power of this Kingdom; for making us happy at Home, and reſpected Abroad.

And as we have a grateful Senſe of the many Bleſſings we enjoy under your Majeſty's Auſpicious Reign, we beg Leave to aſſure your Majeſty of our hearty Endeavours in our Sphere, to promote an affectionate Zeal for your Majeſty's Perſon and Government, that your Reign may be eaſy and happy.

JACKSON.

None of theſe Gentlemen who brought this Addreſs were Knighted, or admitted to kiſs the King's Hand; but his Majeſty was pleaſed to make the following moſt gracious Anſwer.

My Lord Mayor and Gentlemen,

I Return you my thanks for this dutiful and loyal Addreſs, and am very glad that the Marriage of my Daughter with the Prince of Orange gives ſuch general Satisfaction.

It is a great Pleaſure to me to ſee this Metropolis remember with ſo much Gratitude, the Deliverance of theſe Kingdoms from Popery and Slavery, by my great Predeceſſor King William.

A juſt Senſe of the imminent Dangers that this Nation then eſcaped, and of the ineſtimable Bleſſings that we now enjoy, will beſt ſecure to my People the Continuance and Preſervation of our preſent Happineſs, which it has been and always ſhall be my Care to ſupport and maintain to the utmoſt of my Power.

Then they waited on her Majeſty, being introduced by the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Grantham, her Majeſty's Lord Chamberlain; and Mr. Baron Thompſon the Recorder, made their Compliments in the following Speech.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

THE Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, moſt humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the Marriage of her Highneſs the Princeſs Royal to his Serene Highneſs the Prince of Orange.

As you, Madam, gave Birth to this amiable Princeſs, and had the forming of her excellent Mind, and adorned her with all theſe Accompliſhments, which make her ſo juſtly and univerſally admired, to your Majeſty will be owing, not only the Happineſs of the Prince her Conſort, but the Effects of your Majeſty's Cares, Wiſdom and Goodneſs, will be extended for the Welfare of all thoſe Countries, where-ever her Royal Highneſs ſhall have any Influence.

And the People of this Nation will have Reaſon to retain a grateful Senſe of your Majeſty's beneficent Intentions towards them in promoting this happy Union, as it gives them an additional Proſpect of Princes from the Branches of ſuch illuſtrious Families, who have ſo eminently diſtinguiſhed themſelves in the Cauſe of Liberty and the Proteſtant Religion.

Theſe his Majeſty's moſt faithful Subjects beg leave to tender their humble Acknowledgments to your Majeſty, with their moſt ſincere Wiſhes for the Continuance of your Majeſty's Health and Welfare; that your Majeſty may live to ſee this happy Pair bleſſed with a numerous Iſſue; that they alſo may live to be formed by your Majeſty's Inſtructions and Example, and then they cannot fail of proving Comforts to your Majeſty, and Bleſſings to the World.

To which Her Majeſty was pleaſed to make a moſt Gracious Anſwer.

Milan, March 30. The Count de Broglio ſome Days paſt had Advice that 6000 Horſe of the Enemy had poſted themſelvs in what the Miltary Men call a Caſſine, which is a Farm Houſe, and done with a Deſign to hinder our Approaches. This Place was beyond the Mincio, and at the Diſtance of five Miles from Mantua. The French General made a Detachment of a like number of Carabiniers and Huſſars, to which 1000 Grenadiers were joined, whom the Horſe took up behind them. With this Body it was propoſed to ſurround the Caſſine, and make the whole Body of the Germans Priſoners; but they getting ſome Notice of their March, retired; however our Men charged them in their Retreat, and purſued them within two Miles of the Town of Mantua. They ſupported the Attack very well at at first, but the Vivacity with which it was continued, made them take a precipitate Retreat, leaving 35 killed or wounded upon the Place, and 15 Prisoners, one of which was a Cornet.

Hamburgh April 2. A Merchant belonging to this Place, late returned from Dantzick, reports, that the City is so block'd up by the Russians that the Burghers are under the greatest Consternation imaginable, more especially now when they see all proper Dispositions making for a Bombardment. They write from Petersburgh, that four Frigates and a Fireship were already equipp'd, and fit to sail; that they would go forthwith to the Coast of Prussia, and be join'd by some Men of War from Revel, but that the whole Fleet could not possibly go before the Close of April, and that their general Rendezvous will be at the Isle of Gothland, from whence they will sail directly for the Sound. They write from Stockholm, that Men are employed Day and Night in equipping a numerous Squadron both there and at Carelscroon.

Paris, April 4. Though our last Letters from Dantzick brought an Account of the Russians having taken a small Fort and Entrenchment, which covered the Suburb of Schotland, we do not seem here to entertain the least Uneasiness about it; but are still assured, that Something will burst out very soon, so advantageous for King Stanislaus, that that Prince will be in a Condition to maintain himself upon the Throne in spite of all his Enemies.

Mentz, April 10. N. S. All is in Confusion in these Parts, and the Country People every where flying with their best Effects. The City of Worms has sent Deputies to the French Army, to agree upon Contributions, and demand Safeguards. The Troops of the Emperor and Empire upon the Upper Rhine are likewise getting together, to observe the Motions of the French. The Duke de Beveren has taken his Quarters in the Cardinal de Schorborn's Hermitage.

Frankfort, April 11. N. S. The French Army upon the Moselle, under the Command of the Count de Bellisle, which already consists of 20,000 Men, expects very shortly to be considerably reinforced. The Artillery which the French are getting together upon the Moselle & the Saar, is very numerous, there being, among the rest, 50 Mortars; which makes us think they will undertake the Siege of Coblents and Ehrenbreistein, or that of Rheinfels as soon as they are Masters of the Castle of Traerbach. Five hundred Men of the Circle are ordered to throw themselves into the former of these Places; and the 3600 Hessians in the Emperor's Pay, who were to arrive Yesterday at Weilburg, are marching to Rheinfels, with Artillery, Ammunition and Provisions for that Place. The Imperial Troops will shortly form a Camp between Wagkaussel and Oderliausen. Prince Maximilian of Hesse-Cassel arrived here Yesterday. The Elector of Bavaria is making a Line upon the Frontiers of his Electorate.

Cologn, April 13. The French have sate down before the Citadel of Traerbach; but the Town which they lately took, is already laid in Ashes by the Bombs and Shot from the Castle. They write Vienna, that the Duke of Lorrain has received some extraordinary Dispaches from the Court of France.

Paris, April 17, By our last Lettes from Cremona we learn, that the Marshal de Villars was advanced to Colorano on the Frontiers of the Parmesan, upon the Banks of the River Po; that most of his Army was entered the Mantuan and had taken Possession of a Post at the Head of the Lake of Mantua, abandon'd by the Imperialists; but the latter's Troops daily increasing, we expect sudden News of a bloody Battle in that Quarter.

Accounts from every Port of the Kingdom visibly denote the Resolutions of this Court, to exert itself with the utmost Vigor this Summer by Sea and Land.

London, April 2. We hear that the Spaniards have laid an Embargo on most of the English Ships in their Ports.

Sir John Norris is to proceed directly with 20 Sail of the Line to the Baltick. And

We hear that a Squadron of 12 Men of War under the Command of Admiral Stewart, will cruise in the Channel.

It comes confirmed by the Way of Dover, that several large Men of War of the Brest Squadron are now in Dunkirk Road: That a great many Troops are arriv'd at Calais and more daily expected in order to embark; and that great Preparations are making along the Coast for that Purpose.

April 9. Yesterday the Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the Three Denominations of this City, waited on his Majesty at St. James's, with a most dutiful and loyal Address of Congratulation on the Marriage of the Princess Royal with the Prince of Orange, which his Majesty received very graciously; and they all had the Honour to kiss his Hand.

They were afterwards introduced to her Majesty on the same Occasion, and had the Honour to kiss her Hand.

Likewise, at the same time, they were introduced to the Prince and Princess of Orange, in her Royal Highnesses Apartments, to pay their Compliments of Congratulation, who received them in a very obliging manner.

Hague, March 26. N. S. Had not this Republick made a formal Declaration to France, that she would not concern herself with the Affairs of Poland, some would be apt to think this a proper Time to follow the Example of our Ancestors, when they so bravely saved Denmark, and said the Keys of the Sound were in the Admiralty of Amsterdam; I mean, by contributing to the Relief of Dantzick, a Hanse Town, in Alliance with the Republick, and with which her Subjects carry on a very considerable Trade: But in our present Circumstances, nothing of that sort can be done; and if France and Denmark, if Sweden and Prussia will suffer it, Dantzick is in danger of perishing by the Russian Bombs, that Nation being greatly irritated against the said Town, and threatning it with the most direful Revenge, to punish the Partisans of King Stanislaus for treating the Muscovites as Barbarians, in a Pamphlet entitled, A Letter concerning the Affairs of Poland.

The Foreign Ministers here produce Lists of the Emperor's Forces, and those of France, very different from those we saw before. If these last are genuine, his Imperial Majesty is much superior in Strength; for they say France has but 210 Battalions, making 120,000 Men, and 40,000 Horse; Total 160,000 Men, 40,000 whereof are in Italy. There remain 120,000 Men, 20,000 whereof at least must be put in Garrison in the Towns most exposed. It is true, France has 60,000 Militia; but they are fit only to garrison the Towns.

With regard to Italy, all the Regiments are supposed to be complete, at the rate of 40,000 French, and 25 or 30,000 Piedmonteze; out of which 15 or 20,000 are to be deducted for the Garrisons: So that Count Merci will be superior on that side, as well as Prince Eugene upon the Rhine.

Venice, March 20. They write from Constantinople, that the Minister of a certain maritime Power, at the Request of the Grand Signior, had laid before the Porte an impartial Account of the Situation of Affairs in Europe; and that his Excellency taking an Opportunity at the same Time to offer the Mediation of the said Power, in order to put an End to the War with the Persians, the Grand Vizier thank'd him, but reply'd, he look'd upon that as already concluded.

Hague, March 28. N. S. We are as quiet here, as if all Europe enjoyed the profoundest Tranquillity: the Charming Fruit this, of an Act of Neutrality! And yet our Repose seems to be a little disturbed by the Advices from Dantzick, which intimate, that the Russians and Saxons threaten, that if they cannot make themselves Masters of that Great and Opulent Town, they will reduce it to a Heap of Ashes. Their High Mightnesses have a considerable Interest in the Preservation of Dantzick, and have made Remonstrances to the Czarina's Minister upon that Subject; but unless those Remonstrances had been backed by a Squadron of Men of War, we are apprehensive they will have but little Weight.

Extract of our Private Advices from Paris.

WE have had much talk within these few Days, of a second Action, and that a very warm one too, in Lithuania, between the Troops commanded by Count Pociey, and the Russians, to the entire Disadvantage of the latter, above 700 Russian Cuiraffiers having escaped into a Monastery, the Monastery was forced, and the General with a Saxon Colonel cut to pieces. The Rage and Fury of the Polanders and Lithuanians against the Russians increases daily to such a degree, that a Man would be apt to conclude these same Russians and Saxons would be quite extirpated this Year in Poland and Lithuania. It is still affirmed firmed here that the Peace between the Turks and Perſians is made, upon the mutual Condition that they ſhall both attack the Czarina of Muſcovy; Nay we are confidently aſſured, that this Court ſent an Extraordinary Courier to Kouli-Kan, to negotiate that Peace, and particularly that Condition; but this is very unlikely, though they name for that Courier M. Bartel, a Livonian Gentleman, the ſame that brought to France ſo early an Account of the Election of King Staniſlaus, and that had before made many Journeys to all Parts of Europe upon that Occaſion.

We now make no Scruple to own, that the Fleet which is almoſt ready to ſail, and will conſiſt of 50 Men of War of the Line of Battle, well provided with all things neceſſary, is deſigned for the Baltick, and to carry Troops to Dantzick: When that is done, they are to go and burn the Czarina's Fleet, and perhaps oblige her Czarian Majeſty to retire from Petersburg, which they talk here of bombarding as ſurely as the Ruſſians do Dantzick. And while the French Fleet is thus lording it in the Baltick, out comes the Quadruple Alliance ſo long talked of for curtailing the too great Power of Muſcovy, ſo dangerous to all her Neighbours. Monſieur du Guy-Trouin is to command this Fleet, the Sight of which will revive Dantzick, and recover all Poland. At leaſt this is our Way of talking here at preſent.
